

ABSTRACT

Methods for modulating the levels of plasma triglyceride and other lipids in a subject which comprise administration of an effective amount of an exendin or an exendin agonist, alone or in conjunction with other compounds or compositions that lower blood triglyceride and/or other lipid levels.